- Friday 8th September- Due in Wednesday 13th September.
- Friday 22nd September- Due in Wednesday 26th September.
- Friday 6th October- Due in Wednesday 11th October.

These tasks will focus on English and Maths.

Compulsory

Speaking and listening.

In preparation for our Shakespearean performance at the Gulbenkian we would like the children to continue to become familiar with the play. They will need to learn their lines once cast.

In addition it would be beneficial for the children to think about specific pieces of music for certain scenes as well as a mood board that can be used for a display in class. A mood board is a collection of materials, images and words that evoke a reference point for the play.

Talking Point

In RE, we will be learning about, and from, inspirational women.

Who inspires you and why? What does it mean to be inspirational? Discuss these ideas with your family.

Music

We would like to discover which type of music you like to listen to. Think about your favourite genre and why you like it and how it makes you feel.

Record your learning in which ever way you choose; it could be a poster, leaflet, fact file of the musician, musical instrument or a specific era. We would like to create a display of your learning so please take care with presentation.
